Study Options

➢ Face to Face

"Face-to-face" is the term to describe courses that involve students in a classroom setting led by a trainer. The Trainer-led course and seminars fall under the "face-to-face" mode. Please enquire for Operating City and Date.

➢ Online

For students having difficulty fitting their studies into their busy schedule, or who live in rural or remote areas. This will allow them to start, anytime from anywhere on an internet environment.

SCILI e-learning ensures quality, by complying with the standards of the NVR Regulations.

➢ Correspondence

Correspondence is an Online course, however for those who prefer a little face-to-face contact, or for hands-on courses with practical components, especially overseas students, SCILI provide a correspondence option without changing your lifestyle.

➢ Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL)

RPL recognises the current skills and practical knowledge that participants may have through previous work place experience and training although they may not have formal qualifications. This experience and knowledge may count towards competency in various units or modules of an accredited training course. Students may not be required to re-learn what they already know. Through RPL process participants can reduce the fee and learning time.
